Submitting Pictures:

To submit a picture, send an email to fwgallery@whipstaff.com and include Your FW Name (Real name not required). I will be checking ALL submissions against FW member profiles here at the forums for accuracy. So if you submit a picture, make sure your profile is viewable and that you submit the picture from the same email address as is listed in your profile. You can also send me a link (via PrivateMessage) to the picture on the net if you already have it somewhere, and I will download it to re-host on the Gallery site (wont eat your bandwidth then). Clarification on Pictures: Please send REAL pictures. I dont feel Graphics or Cartoons due justice to the Gallery. People want to see YOU, not your favorite likeness.

Picture Info: Pictures should (if possible) be under 100K. If you have a larger picture that you cant resize yourself, send it along with a note that it needs resizing and I can take care of that easily.

Feel free to submit more than one picture as well. I will make all pictures sent available for viewing with a quick menu.

If you would like to also submit some text or HTML for a little BIO on yourself, that can be accomodated as well (see Jp for Example).

Removals:

While I dont encourage it, if you wish to have your pictures removed from the gallery, follow the same procedure as mentioned above, but just let me know you want it removed.

Other than that, enjoy the site, and let me know if you find any problems or have any suggestions.

-----Avatars-----

I just noticed that not all the Avatars are correct.

If you have a picture in the gallery and would like your avatar changed, just shoot an email/PM to the fwgallery@whipstaff.com address linked above, and tell me (using the name in the Profile Screen) which avatar you would like for yourself. Obviously if you change your avatar on FW every day, I cant keep changing the site to match, so find one you like.

Well this past Sunday 11/5, the Member Gallery stopped responding to requests. The Server that hosts it is still up and running, but for some reason wont respond. After leaving Omegaman a message, I have decided to take the Member Gallery under my personal wing and found it a new home.

<http://membgallery.fatwallet.com> is the new home of the FW Member Gallery. If you would like to have your picture added to the gallery, read the original post in this thread for instructions.

I will update the new avatars (all the diff caps) by weeks end. For those of you who have pictures at the gallery, please let me know if you need your avatar changed to reflect one of the hat ones. I'm not going to check every account to make sure they match.

Lano, I had previously stated that if you wanted your avatar changed on the Gallery, to please drop me a line and I will change them. I did this because for a while, people who are listed at the gallery were changing their avatars once a week for the hell of it.

I havent gotten ANY changes other than 1 removal in the last month (maybe 2 months).

If anyone wants their pictures updated or their avatar changed, please let me know by either emailing me at fwmembers@whipstaff.com (Must be sent from the same Email address as in your profile, and profile must be viewable) OR, with the new PMs here at FW, you can send me Avatar changes through FW because I can safely assume you authenticated properly to do so. (Obviously you cant send pictures through PM, but if you post em somewhere and send me links, I can pull em down and add em to the Gallery that way.)

I just added dmxrob, and I am going to start a vote in OT about the design of the site. I'd rather just update 1 page rather than 2 for all changes.

PS: I do use the first post in this thread to update information about the site, reference the "Changes" section of the first post.

Added some new users and went with the framed version even though the voting was pretty split. Only answer I got as to why people liked the non framed version was "I dont like Frames".

Nice work you're doing on maintaining the gallery, Casper. Just noticed on the latest pix you added that the multiple pictures each come up just by moving the mouse over the index number. No closing one pix and reloading the next. Smooth.

Squid and Phiipy have been added, sorry I took so long guys. Squid,I also resized yer picture a little.

Hmmm, I guess I didnt specify it in this thread anywhere, but names with Red names mean they WERE on the gallery but asked to be removed. The names were left behind so you can pester them into letting me put the pictures back.

soccerkid: if you sent yer message recently, then its proly the one thats stuck in my inbox at home right now. My web account is having problems pulling down that email, so it wont be posted till tonight when I get home.

Not to be a killjoy or tattletale, but...

If soccerkid's pic can;t be posted (and I agree it shouldn't) why the heck is kirbydog's picture there?

Please enforce the rules and require a real picture from kirbydog. It's not fair to everyone else.

Adventure, KD along with a few others were here long before that rule applied. I don't think its out of the question for her to keep pics of her dog up there since they have been there from the beginning.

I'm not saying I want to put up random photos myself,

What I am saying is that the gallery should be held to a standard, not a double standard.

I think the pictures are nice. But I don't think they should be on the main page of the gallery, just like soccerkid's pic wasn;t put there either.

I'm of course disappointed that kd hasn't posted real pics, but I understand that some people are more self-conscious than others. But that doesn't make a person better (or worse) and deserving of special treatment.

Rank: The CandyWoman

OK Adventure!! Take a valium!! Get over it already. Its just a pic and I don't see it as special treatment. It has been around for a long time, that means everybody elses cute animals need to be moved to that page too. Or are YOU making up the rule that states that its ok to post an animal pic as long as you have a human picture too.

I also never implied that you wanted to put up random pics of yourself.

Everybody is entitled to their opinion. But its not the Hall of Presidents, its the FW gallery.

Why are YOU getting so worked up over my message? It's just a statement of fact. From the gallery guidelines: Clarification on Pictures: Please send REAL pictures. [..snip..] People want to see YOU, not your favorite likeness.

I have nothing against the person or you. I wrote the message according to my principles. You might disagree, and you have that right.

KirbyDog gets to keep her pics for 2 reasons.

- 1) Shes grandfathered in because the pictures were there when I took over.
- 2) KirbyDog, is in fact, a Dog. Kirby Dog's owner just happens to do the typing, because dogs are notoriously bad spellers.

PS: More Chicky PIX!

Casper42, I do not know about reasoning number 2! I mean, the soccerkid is not necessarily human either, a soccerkid is made of soccer! Hence the soccer picture would qualify by virtue of reasoning 2.

I somewhat tried to excuse the dog thing for the very reason 2 you provided; but if so, then the soccer pic is equally justifiable. And I would guess that the soccer kid saw the dog picture as having set a precedent; that is why he felt comfortable to send a picture of the soccer ball.

As for reason 1, why not do like companies do: grant prior customers a grace period for them to present pictures of human beings or to voluntarily request a removal of the non-human pictures. Then by the time their grace period is over, remove the non-human pictures if they have not added human pictures by then.

Adventure, I definitely agree with you on this issue.

Yes! I do not have my picture posted, but neither have I engaged in posting pictures of my favorite sites. I mean, imagine those beautiful photographs . . . the wild life I love to take pictures of, the beautiful scenes, etc. I could easily do that too. And I could easily justify such with my nick as representing that beauty that cannot speak for itself in human linguistics.

A demarcation has to be drawn on what is acceptable and what is not.

I venture to propose what you suggested: people can post pictures of whatever--just as long as they have at least one picture of themselves, human beings, that is.

For, posting pictures is not a requirement by law . . . it is free will, so if one feels one cannot post a picture of oneself, then one should not post a picture at all.

I do not necessarily agree with your view, though, that people who do not post their pictures are shy. For some that is the case; but for some others it is just by virtue of privacy. And privacy is not necessarily a consequence of timidity. As a naturally very investigative person, I can tell you that what you perceive as a trivial thing is in fact very informative and useful!

As much as I agree with you about the importance of consistency and fairness in application of rules, the fact is that other parties who determine what happens might have a differing view. So, what's the solution? On your part, speak through your mouse! Do not view the questionable pictures and do not recognize or accept them. Message edited by: luvly on 03/09/2001 15:53:57

LMAO at all you do-gooders and fair crap(I guess your momma never told you that life isn't always fair)!!

First off its not your gallery so as soon as you decide to start your own gallery then you can make up your own rules. Second it is the FW(Omega & Casper) Family Gallery. Most people I know treat their animals just like a family member.

Too fricken funny!!! Message edited by: Willywonka on 03/09/2001 16:02:43

cripes people, its a fricking gallery for us FWers basically, its caspers website (or one of) its not a service

its not a company
its not the bible
it doesn't require handicap parking spots by law granted, i was disappointed when i clicked to see KDs pic - her personality is so cute, i figured she'd match but i got a picture of a dog at first i was like, "dammit, that ain't fair" but after the pic loaded i thought, "thats a really cute dog" now if i were to click soccerkid, to see his picture i'd be expecting some snot nosed freckly kid - not very high expectations, i know (no offense kid)

but a picture of a soccerball whoopy

would i post a picture of a mud puddle?
no, everyones seen one has everyone seen kirbys dog? (err..dog=canine...dog <> google)

keep in mind, we're talking about the FW gallery

besides, a picture of a doggie is alot better then a picture of a soccerball

LOL Mud! That's your personal judgment--which goes to support my reason as to why the dog pic shouldn't stay there if the soccer pic can't.

Not every human being perceives a domestic pet any more beautiful than a soccer ball, wild life animals, etc.

Person A's perception of that pet's look may differ from Person B's.

It can be argued too that soccer balls have distinct personalities. Need I begin pointing to basketballs with autographs. . . . And that you had to experience the ball to see its distinct personality (oh yeah! I had my favorite volleyball, soccer ball, etc. Even sports players sometimes add personalities to their sports equipments. hehehe)

Also, I cannot understand why people often assume that because one questions something--that means they are profoundly emotionally affected. Common! LOL! As I told adventure, the fact is, it is not my site or his. Those who determine what happens themselves may have a differing opinion. So I voice my opinion when someone else raises the issue, but I speak the loudest through my mouse. I determine where my mouse goes . . . for that is within my domain. Message edited by: luvly on

I think mud and WW pretty much nailed it. THIS AINT NO DEMOCRACY!

I also agree with the assesment that a "Soccer Kid" would tend to be a human of some sort. Well maybe a baby goat who plays soccer, but certainly not a "Soccer BALL".

Anyways, KD's pics will remain because they were there when I got here, not because shes being given a 'grace period', but BECAUSE THEY WERE THERE WHEN I TOOK OVER.

If you all would like to argue this little further, please start up a thread in the Off Topic forum, as this thread is supposed to be for questions relating to the gallery, not arguments.

Argh. My email server at home literally caught fire last weekend while I was troubleshooting a dead power supply. And while I had several precautions in place to protect the machine from failing, its really fubar right now. Why am I babbling?

Because this is where anything@whipstaff.com goes when you send in your pictures. so FWGallery@whipstaff.com is NOT working right now. Please for the time being redirect all Gallery Requests to the email listed in my profile.

Thanks for your patience (and thank god the site wasnt hosted on the same machine).

All Server parts that became Extra Crispy 2 weeks ago have now been replaced and my email server is back up and running. You may now use the FWGallery@whipstaff.com address again for submissions.

Also, the Gallery will be moving around a little bit this week, so if you try to access it with no luck, please try back the next day.

Here is a Temporary URL to use. It was working for me last week, and then went back to the old address over the weekend somehow. I will double check things with Chief Mucky Muck tonight.

And here is the latest Temp URL: <http://207.254.20.222>

This one is permanent, and Tim will be changing the DNS today, but it may take anywhere from a day to a week for your local DNS to receive those changes.

If anyone has any problems accessing the site by its proper name (<http://membergallery.fatwallet.com>) after 5/9/01, let me know and we will look into the matter.

NEW SUBMISSIONS:

I have at least 1, maybe more pictures to add to the gallery. All new pics will be added this week and will be up by the weekend. (Probably today, when I get bored after Lunch). If you want to submit a picture, read the information in the first post in this thread.

Tim, sure thing. I'm not using anythign special to do the gallery currently, just good old html and pics. I was researching an automated ASP way of doing it but got bored and never finished.

Hook it up and shoot me the details and I'll upload all the content and we can test it before you change the DNS Entries.

Oh and Sorry Smoked, your picture isnt getting posted. The new rules when I took over the gallery are that you have to at least have 1 REAL picture before you can add cartoony stuff.

This is because there is nothing more dissapointing for someone to see your name in the gallery and then click the link only to find a picture of a penguin. And if your gonna mention KD's entries, she was "grandfathered in" from the OmegaMan days.

Da Gallery will be moving this weekend to a new home. The old home will be gone as of Sunday afternoon sometime, and hopefully Tim and I will have the new one up by then. (Please bare with us this weekend as things might be flakey)

You can all bow and kiss Tim's feet for providing the space and the bandwidth for the site, since it has been an unofficial part of FW since inception.

Unless Tim wants to take it over and have one of his staff manage it, I will still be doing the updates and such until further notice, so keep those pictures coming.

Alright, the Gallery has been moved.

The old system was case insensitive and the new one is case sensitive. I went through every picture we moved and tried to make sure they load and dont error out. But if anyone sees any goofs or broken links (Aside from the Users in Red who had their pics removed), please send me a PM to let me know.

JD: She said something like "this is me with my mom" or somethignin the email. This lead me to beleive she is one of the 2 youngins in the pic. Youngin on the Right is obviously Female and Youngin on the left looks to me to be Female as well.

So unless i totally misread what she wrote in the email, I dont have a clue as to which one is which.

I am waiting on approval from Mikey as either he used a different email address or his isnt listed.

I am also waiting on approval from StaplesGuy for a picture he sent.

Cutiepie4u sent me a pic but it didnt work, file was only 54 bytes. Waiting for her to resend.

Wallace sent me a picture, but has no email address listed and isnt accessible via PM, so I'm waiting for Tim/Redol to verify the email address for me. Although I'm hesitant to post it, because he has hardly any posts and the first one I found he was bashing anoher user.

c7530303 and KimChiCowboy requested to have their pictures removed. The pics have been removed but the menu hasnt been updated yet. I'll update the menu when I add some new picstures (Mikey/StaplesGuy)

If your not on that list and you have a picture waiting to be added, please use the email address in the first post of this thread and re-send the picture and I will have it up soon.

Things have been crazy busy at work and home and I havent been able to get to the gallery in a while, but have today off and things are getting less crazy, so I should be able to get the updates done in a timely manner again soon.

Well, there is a site I go to that has the option to do exactly what auction high metioned, and it's created and maintained by one women. I find it hilarious that another site with the same exact forum format she uses that even has several people in charge claim that it's 'too hard' to do (and none of those sites i'm referring to are this one)

But of course to me something like that is not basic Message edited by: jujujuice on 11/18/2002 18:30:34

depending on the server, there are a few ways to do it and doing it is actually semi easy, unfortunately, doing it so it's secure isn't as simple i doubt tim and redol want to risk security of the massive databases that this site runs off of i'm not a php guru...so maybe redol could whip up a secure one...not sure but i'm sure it wouldn't make his priority list

Just to clarify the whole "FatWallet Giving back to the community" theory.

The Server Storage Space is Provided by FW

The Bandwidth for the Pics is Provided by FW

The Maintenance and lack of wonderful features is provided by Casper42.

This site was originally on a webhost I had easy access to, but it dissolved one day when the company hooking me up went out of business and Tim GENEROUSLY offered to host it on his machines so it could keep running. It was started by another FW member before I took it over and he had also hosted it on his own.

The Maintenance(Add/Remove/Update) and features are done in my spare time.

Add in that I dont know CF at all (little ASP though), and you get a fairly unexciting but still useful site.

I have a job requiring 50+ hours of work a week, 2 night school classes and a Wife who doesnt like it when I spend hours on end in my office instead of spending time with her. So you see its not gonna happen anytime soon. I havent even automated the freakin menu system yet people (Which would be fairly easy). I'm also a Citrix Administrator by profession, not a WebMaster.

Not to mention that most of the people in it and people who use it are the Off Topic users of FW, and they arent the ones Tim is making his Money from on a daily basis. Message edited by: Casper42 on 12/05/2002 20:27:15

AuctionHugh, I don't post much these days ... but frankly you're making my brain explode. I just pop in here to see if there's any new babes, like kristakatt ...

Anyways, the point is, it's NOT the most simple task in the world.

Tim would have to give you access to code snippets to check FATWALLET cookies and login settings.
Next, he'd have to give you access to either a database, or a folder to GET THE FILES ON HIS SERVER.

Lastly, you'd have to develop something to upload the files (piece of cake with CF). So yeah, it's relatively easy, just a PITA for everyone involved.

Oh wait, won't you need remove picture capability? Multiple picture capability? Change order capability? Update/edit picture capability? Oh, and sizing (both pixel and file size) / format constraints.

Perhaps you can see where this could be a little out of hand, very easily.

It should be a dead issue until Tim decides it offers some benefit to his forums.

Now as for why things look different, I'll have to work on that. I know there was a failure on the server that was hosting the Gallery like a month ago and it was down for a day or two. But I never heard back from Redol or Tim if they got the machine back up and running or if (and this would explain why things are wrong) they restored from a previous gallery backup. I'll shoot them some PMs/AIMs on the subject and see what happened and get it fixed up.

As for people sending in submissions to my email, I now (on top of being a workaholic and having a hot wife) also now have school 4 nights a week after work, and my hot wife is making me house shop with her, so we are trekking over the local hill and looking at real estate 2 or 3 times every freaking weekend. I will get to your requests, I promise. I just need to sit down and actually do it. So probably this weekend since I told her I'm sick of house shopping and need to relax this weekend. I also had to turn off an auto forward of gallery submissions to my work email because the way I had it setup had this 4MB submission caught in an infinite loop. I'll try and turn that back on though.

Oh, and as for juju being hot, I totally agree
You should see the pics that ARENT on the gallery!!
(Dont worry Juju, I'll never share the ones not intended for the gallery)

PS: There ARE pictures of my wife on the Gallery. Message edited by: Casper42 on 01/31/2003 16:17:59

Added Newman
Fixed nealrap (his picture was there but never added to the menu)
Fixed Molitor194 (same as nealrap)

I spoke with Redol and he said they didnt go to tape, they fixed the machine in question. So I dont know why things are all weird, but I will check JuJu and Digelt and make sure the pictures they had changed really got changed. Message edited by: Casper42 on 01/31/2003 15:53:41

OK, I think I figured it out.

The main menu must have been overwritten with an older copy. Probably because I update the site from work and home. I always try to download the main menu first, then edit and then upload it back to FW, but I must have missed that step once. That explains Molitor and nealrap not being listed.

Juju and Digelt pic #1 were changed though.

Juju went from a headshot to the current 1/2 body shot with her in a black top.

Digelt's change was less noticeable. The new pic #1 is a cropped version of the old one. You used to be able to see the top of her chest and more of the arm holding the camera.

Oh and for Hugh, I always try to announce changes in here, but on occasion I have been asked to NOT announce a new member addition to the gallery (only twice) and have respected those wishes. Message edited by: Casper42 on 01/31/2003 16:02:03

Sheeesh, I go on Vacation for 10 days and you all think I died or something.

I'm back and I will try to get any gallery submissions updated by the end of this coming weekend. I have around 300 work emails and 200 home emails as well as 2 Final Exams tonight and I'm going to E3 this Friday.

If you sent a picture via email and you want to make sure it goes up quickly, please send me a PM and give me the email address you used to send the picture to me with. This is a quick security check and will allow me to not have to PM you and then wait for a response.

I know I have been severely lacking in my quest to update the gallery in a timely manner, but I am back on the ball and need to make sure I didnt miss anyone.

If you have already EMAILED me pictures, and they are not up yet, please PM me and let me know. This serves as a reminder, but it also serves as a security check. The only way I can really know you are who you say you are is if the email address I get the pics from matches the one in your profile, or if you dont want your email displayed on FW, you need to PM me with the email address used to send the pics so I know its really you.

If you have pictures you havent emailed, please email me those using the instructions in the original post of this thread, or as mentioned in that post if you have them hosted on a private website, you can simply send me the URL and I will snag a copy of the pic and rehost it, so that your bandwidth doesnt get eaten and your site stays private if you wish. Message edited by: Casper42 on 06/24/2003 13:08:09

i don't think that's a good idea. the point of the gallery is to let people put a face to a name. it's not a beauty contest. and it's definitely not amihotornot.com tons of bad can come out of that. and i can't think of even 1 productive thing that this can lead to.

I agree with Yankee. OT is in enough hot water right now, no need to piss people off any further.

Now if YOU want to see some voting on YOUR picture, you could always post a Poll Thread in OT in the style of hotornot.com with ratings from 0 to 10 and see what happens. But I wouldnt reccomend doing this for anyone else's picture. Let them do it themselves.

I would be curious to know how many people have been PM'd (propositioned) from other members as a result of having their pictures posted in the gallery. I would think that some of the ones asking to have their pics removed came as a result of that.

Fartstick: Unfortunately your right. I know of at least 2 or 3 people who have asked me to take down their pics for exactly that reason. The weirdest request was someone who asked me to take down her pictures because her new job mandated they couldnt be posted anywhere. Spy? Federal Agent? High School Lunch Lady? Beats me.

The OP (oh wait, thats me) doesnt frequent FW much anymore.
I havent checked the FW Gallery Inbox for over a month.

I'm working on a slightly new design for the gallery which will make adding people and removing people much easier for me (right now its like 10-15 mins per addition and all manual). If I get that working soon, I will probably go back and check the FW memberGallery Inbox and get those pictures up and running. (So maybe end of the week?)

If you wish to expedite that process, you can send me a PM letting me know what email address you sent the pictures FROM. If that email address matches the email sitting in the Gallery Inbox, then I dont need to verify you are who you say you are and I can post the pictures without delay. This will also tell me who cares vs who sent in pics on a whim and never checks this thread.

Still waiting on 3 other users to return my PM to be added as well.

PS: If you send me a picture, and I have no way of verifying you are who you say you are (keep in mind I have NO extra status on FW than a normal member. I CANNOT look up your registered email address unless EVERYONE can see it). In these situations, I will send you a PM asking if you really submitted pics. Your pics don't go up until that PM is verified. Hope this makes a little more sense now. So if you DONT want to expose your email to everyone on FW, then when you email me pics, just send ME a quick PM to let me know. Then I won't have to harass you and wait for your answer.

PPS: I still have just 1 kink in my new Gallery design to work out, and then I will switch to that as the default. It's not anymore pretty than this one. Still a plain brown wrapper (that's my M O), but it's written in PHP to make the entire menu on the left and the pics on the right auto generated. (Anyone know PHP?)

Submitting Pictures:

To submit a picture, send an email to fwgallery@whipstaff.com and include Your FW Name (Real name not required). I will be checking ALL submissions against FW member profiles here at the forums for accuracy. So if you submit a picture, make sure your profile is viewable and that you submit the picture from the same email address as is listed in your profile. You can also send me a link (via PrivateMessage) to the picture on the net if you already have it somewhere, and I will download it to re-host on the Gallery site (wont eat your bandwidth then). Clarification on Pictures: Please send REAL pictures. I dont feel Graphics or Cartoons due justice to the Gallery. People want to see YOU, not your favorite likeness.

Picture Info: Pictures should (if possible) be under 100K. If you have a larger picture that you cant resize yourself, send it along with a note that it needs resizing and I can take care of that easily. Feel free to submit more than one picture as well. I will make all pictures sent available for viewing with a quick menu. If you would like to also submit some text or HTML for a little BIO on yourself, that can be accomodated as well (see Jp for Example).

Removals:

While I dont encourage it, if you wish to have your pictures removed from the gallery, follow the same procedure as mentioned above, but just let me know you want it removed.

Other than that, enjoy the site, and let me know if you find any problems or have any suggestions.

-----Avatars-----

I just noticed that not all the Avatars are correct.

If you have a picture in the gallery and would like your avatar changed, just shoot an email/PM to the fwgallery@whipstaff.com address linked above, and tell me (using the name in the Profile Screen) which avatar you would like for yourself. Obviously if you change your avatar on FW every day, I cant keep changing the site to match, so find one you like.

FW actually said that they are looking at a way to revamp the member gallery; got this info from helpdesk last week. They are considering a new option where we can upload a photo to our user profile. Definitely not the same as the member gallery (IMHO), but it is a feature that will be up to date.

Hi aDaddy,

While this improvement was scheduled to have been completed, it looks like there will be a bit of a delay. In order to avoid making additional promises we may not be able to keep, I can't give you an ETA. However, I promise you it is being worked on!
